

SPG at GEO India 2011

2nd South Asian Geosciences Conference and Exhibition "GEO India 2011" organized by AAPG & APG was held during 12-14 January, 2011 at Greater Noida, Delhi. SPG, India set up a booth (stand no. 533) at "GEO India 2011" conference. The booth was managed by Mr. Pradeep Bailwal, and Ms. Suman Sharma, Office Executive, SPG, India.

SPG in the booth depicted its activities and aims to promote geophysics in India through various posters, journals and video of symposiums and seminar on the emerging technologies and other crucial E & P themes. The response from the visitors was overwhelming. The visitors included almost the entire gamut of industry spanning from students, faculty, oil E&P industry professionals, business managers etc.,

SPG booth was visited by number of delegates and lots of queries were raised on the role of SPG in promoting geosciences and securing hydrocarbons needs of the country. Shri K M Shukla, Secretary, SPG, India interacted with Students from various universities/ institutes and enlighten them about SPG India's efforts in serving the cause of students which included job opportunities and invitation in technical workshops and forums being organized by SPG, India.

Many Students shows their enthusiasm in joining the society as members and to participate in the activities in SPG, India.

Visitors at the SPG's booth were keen to know about the developments and proceedings of SPG forthcoming conference "SPG 2012".

Overall it was an enriching experience for the SPG delegates to represent the society and be a part of such eminent gathering coming on a common platform to share the ideas.
